What Is Happiness? Money and Labor Pearl for a Lady Birth Control. Yes? No?

—By Arthur Brisbane—

THE REV. C. EVERETT WAGNER, Methodist episcopal, will start a "Happiness Clinic" with philosophers engaged to lecture on happiness—how to start, how to reach it. The clinic will pay especial attention to marriage, health, work and human nature.

In starting a "happiness clinic" it is important to remember Voltaire's advice to define the meaning of words.

What IS happiness?

Sheridan calls it "An exotic of celestial birth."

Socrates said, "Happiness is unrepented pleasure."

Schopenhauer called happiness "absence of pain," a dull definition.

Schiller thought he had found "earthly happiness" because he had lived and loved. There are two kinds of happiness. The lesser consists in finding the work for which you are fit and doing it.

The greater, reserved for a few, is working for others.

A strike of gasoline truck drivers for big oil companies in New York, the companies refusing to recognize unions, is an important struggle between organized labor and organized money.

Labor has the difficult end of what will be a long fight.

One hundred million dollars would make no difference to the companies in this struggle.

If drivers could succeed in cutting off gasoline supplies, tying up automobiles, which is doubtful, they would have public opinion against them.

They will find political authorities temporarily friendly, less so after election.

A diver in the Persian Gulf went "all naked to the hungry shark," and avoiding the shark, came up with a perfect pearl weighing 50 grains, worth $250,000.

The pearl will go to some lady, not very young, probably. Young husbands of young wives cannot afford such pearls.

The lady will wear it occasionally at first, then keep it in a safe deposit box most of the time, losing $15,000 a year in interest, and wear an imitation pearl that even she won't know from the genuine after a few days.

The faculties of seven New York colleges urge the state to change the penal code, allowing doctors to give information about birth control.

With birth control in practice the world would have missed Caruso, who was No. 19 in his family, probably also Napoleon, and many other valuable individuals.

But that, say the birth control advocates, does not answer the question, "Has a woman with six children, poor, in weak health, her husband a drunkard, the right to say that she will not bring any more unfortunate children into the world?" Prosperous women, able to care for large families, get birth control information, poor women don't get it.

Mme. Curie, who helped the discovery of radium, comes here to accept for the new radium institute at Warsaw one gramme of radium, costing $50,000, paid for by American women.

You could put in a small valise radium worth more than all the wealth of Rockefeller, Ford, Secretary Mellon and George F. Baker combined, if such a radium quantity existed.

Our sun, with its source of terrific energy only guessed at by science, may contain millions of tons of radium.

We can't get at that. But we might attain more poor children the benefit of the sun's light, which is accessible and costs nothing.

Seattle, warmly welcoming the pluck of Russians flying from Moscow to the great American city of the Northwest, sets a good example.

Russia has always been our friend, and we should be friendly with Russians now, congratulate them on getting rid of the worthless, destructive and degenerate Romanoff crowd and having the courage to set up their own successful government.

Don't forget that a visit to Seattle is a good start for your "Seeing America First" trips.

And when you go, if you want to see some of the beautiful country north of our line, and abundant game, communicate with Prosser and Mannon, two of the best guides and outfitters in British Columbia.

You can get their address from Dr. Alanson Weeks, famous surgeon and instructor at the medical school in San Francisco. What he does not know about American game and guides is unimportant.

Mr. Lamont, "the" Mr. Lamont, says business is good and will continue good. Gerard Swope, president of General Electric, says "Amen" and means it. Orders received by his company for the three months ending September 30 were $116,688,014, against $90,328,666 in the same period last year. That increase of 29 per cent has prevailed throughout the entire year.

Ex-Gov. Al Smith to Head Big Welfare Fund

MEETS WITH COOLIDGE IN SECRET SESSIONS

Chicago Philanthropist Also in Conferences on Public Good

New York, Oct. 16—Calvin Coolidge, Alfred E. Smith and Julius Rosenwald have dined together once a month since last July, and at these meetings they have had under discussion the administration of a philanthropic fund.

This was admitted to International News Service this afternoon by Governor Smith.

The fund, according to reports in Wall Street, runs into millions of dollars and is to be used for the public good.

"Yes, Mr. Coolidge, Mr. Rosenwald and myself have been getting together since last July," said Governor Smith. "We have discussed a philanthropic fund, but I am not prepared to go into this at the present time.

"There will be an announcement concerning it from my office in the near future."

NO BUSINESS PROPOSITION

Governor Smith said that he, Coolidge and Rosenwald did not have any business proposition under consideration. He was specific about this.

He denied that he had ever taken Mr. Coolidge to the famous "Tiger Room" maintained by William H. Kenny, millionaire friend of Smith and one of his chief backers in the last Presidential campaign.

"That ridiculous," commented Governor Smith, regarding that rumor.

Wall Street reports are that a man who resides in the vicinity of New York has established the fund. His name is a secret. Likewise it is not known for what purpose the huge fund will be administered.

Coolidge is a Protestant, Smith is Catholic and Rosenwald a Jew. The last, a prominent Chicago merchant, is noted for his philanthropies.

POLICE CAPTURE HIM IN DEATH OF WOMAN

Manuel Fernandez Falls in Wareham Woods With Bullet in His Leg

While attempting to escape capture for the alleged murder of Mrs. Julia Pine, mother of six children, in Wareham Monday night, Manuel Fernandez was shot in the leg today by State Constabulary Sergt. Russell Dearborn of Middleboro.

Reports that Fernandez had fled into the woods armed with a revolver proved incorrect when he was captured today. Efforts by police to find a weapon on Fernandez or in his shack were fruitless.

Discovered by Sergt. Dearborn and Patrolman Churchill of Wareham hiding in a shack less than a quarter of a mile from the scene of the slaying on Pilot Hill, Fernandez attempted to flee the building through a window.

Sergt. Dearborn opened fire and Fernandez dropped with a bullet in his leg.

Police took him to the Wareham police station, where he was treated by a physician. Fernandez did not require hospital attention.

A few minutes after the alleged slayer was placed in a cell Asst. Dist. Atty. William P. Kelley and State Detective Albert Broullard were notified of his capture and went from Plymouth to interrogate the prisoner.

Fernandez is alleged to have shot Mrs. Pina in their "love nest" in Wareham, where the woman had fled with her six children from Providence, police say.

The shooting, according to police, was the result of a quarrel over two unpaid bills.

EDISON STOCK DROPS TO $290, A NEW LOW

State Board Drafts Initiative Petition for Drastic Investigation

Boston Edison Co. stock dropped once more today in the market, close on the heels of the promised investigation of the company and its rates by the Public Utilities Commission.

In the first few hours of trading the stock fell $20.50, to the $290 mark—a new 1929 low.

The Public Utilities Commission, it was learned today, is drawing up an initiative petition, broad in scope, to bring about a complete probe of the company.

Today the commission was in receipt of many letters and telegrams congratulating it on its decision refusing the Edison Co. the right to split up its stock four for one.

BACKED BY SHATTUCK.

Chief among these messages was one from Rep. Henry L. Shattuck of Boston, which read:

"I wish to congratulate you on your decision in the Edison matter. Associates upon your decision in the Boston Edison companies and upon the remarks contained in the decision concerning the rate and dividend policy of the company.

"Your thesis that divided returns and fixed market prices of a public utility should bear a close relation to a fair return on property values seems to me unimpeachable—all the more so in the case of a company which, maintains a domestic rate structure far out of line with most of its neighbors.

"I believe it high time that both the public utility managers and the

Sugar 'Lobby' Spends $500,000 on Tariff

Washington, Oct. 16—The United States Beet Sugar Association has spent "half million dollars" in Washington to influence Congress and public opinion on sugar questions in the last six years, Harry A. Austin, its secretary-treasurer, testified today at the Senate's lobby investigation.

Austin said his organization had spent $70,000 this year while the new tariff bill, with its proposed increase in sugar duties, was pending in Congress. While declining to say that paid representatives were necessary to get justice from Congress, Austin declared his organization had been "helpful" to American sugar interests.

Austin revealed that most of this fund was spent on tariff publicity, defending higher duties.

He said this publicity was necessary to combat rival publicity from the National City Bank, New York, "which has $100,000,000 invested in Cuba," and the Hawaiian and Philippine sugar interests.

Austin urged the committee to investigate the National City Bank's "lobbying" activities. He also asked the committee to investigate acts of Edward F. Schacht, counsel for the United States Sugar Association of New York; Mrs. Gladys Jones, of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in

Abolish Santa Claus Stuff, Says Dr. Sadler

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—And now, with December in the offing and the reindeer all fattened up and ready to go along comes Dr. William S. Sadler of Chicago, decreeing that all the five-year-olds in America be told the devastating truth about Santa Claus.

It would be better, says the doctor—who is by vocation a surgeon and by avocation a writer about mental complexes and phobias—had the children known the distressing fact from the start. However," he said today with a grim, "I could hardly expect to have public opinion with me on that point.

"Well, if there must be the Santa Claus business, let it be conducted with discretion. Let the child be disillusioned before he leaves the nursery, and, above all, let him hear the truth from his own parents and no one else."

If sonny hears the truth from the other kids, he's going to realize that his parents are—well, not always quite truthful. And it's going to be an awful shock.

"My own son never believed in Santa Claus," he says. "When he was at the Santa Claus age I bought him a little red suit and had him come right in and help me trim the Christmas tree. He was Santa Claus, Jr.

"And we had a whale of a good time at it, too."

Dist. Atty. William J. Foley admitted today he had made a survey of court records on disorderly houses, extending back to 1922, and had turned over a copy to the federal officials.

He also admitted an attache of his office had been present at every disorderly house trial in the last two years as "a necessary function."

public should appreciate the unsoundness of values based largely on earning capacity in the case of companies engaged in public service and receiving special privileges and protection.

WOULD HIT MONOPOLY

"I don't mean to say that earning capacity, particularly when obtained through unusual efficiency, should have any part whatever in values, but I believe that in the rising market property values of public utilities have been too far out of line with earning capacity and that they should be recognized as a measuring rod of values, monopoly and other special privileges should go.

"I am not familiar with the recent percentage of earnings on property values, but my impression is that there has been a considerable increase in this percentage in the last couple of years or so, and I hope that a reduction in the company's domestic lighting rates will avail."

DOHENY TO TAKE STAND FOR FALL

Washington, Oct. 16—One of the two big defense guns in the bribery trial of former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall will go into action today. The other will be arranged tomorrow.

Frank J. Hogan, chief defense attorney, expects today to reach Admiral [illegible] K. Robison, and tomorrow's session will see E. L. Doheny, California oil magnate, on the stand.

It was Robison who, in the conspiracy trial of Fall and Doheny, sought to take full responsibility for the lease of the Elk Hills naval oil reserves, although the government contends the execution of the lease and the oil baron connived over it. Robison has defended the lease as beneficial to the government, and he will tell how it became necessary to throw the reserve open to private exploitation to prevent drainage from the outside.

Doheny will tell about the $100,000 consideration that forms the basis of the trial. Instead of the bribe the government say it was, Doheny will tell the jury it was an unsecured loan "from one old friend to another" and had no bearing on his acquisition of Elk Hill.

Efforts to show through employes of the interior department during Fall's term that he had nothing to do with drawing up the Elk Hills-Pearl Harbor lease and contract with Doheny were continued by Fall's defense today, in questioning H. Foster Bain.

Bain was director of the Bureau of Mines, and one of the men chiefly involved in drawing the contract. He testified that Fall was out of the city most of the time the contract was being negotiated and that by the time he returned it was "practically all signed up."

Bain was not familiar with the terms of the contract.

Three character witnesses, two of whom have known Fall during most of his New Mexico career, arrived today. One is Robert Geronimo, said by defense counsel to be the son of the famous Indian chieftain.

The others are sheriffs, Felipe Lucero of Donna Anna county, and Albert Burch of Otero county, New Mexico. Lucero knew Fall in the days when Billy the Kid was the outstanding figure of the bloody Lincoln county cattle war.

Frank Hogan, chief defense counsel, read a letter to Rear Admiral Robison in which Fall outlined Doheny's acceptance of higher Government schedules. In it Fall said no changes would be made in the contract without the navy's approval.

Suggestions made by Robison, Bain said, were contained in the final contract which Fall signed after reading it slowly and saying if it were "all right."

Roxbury Prisoner Flees Salem Jail

Salem, Oct. 16 (AP)—Howard Kelley, 28, of Roxbury, escaped from Essex County jail today. He was serving a nine months' sentence. As an employe of the jail laundry, Kelley was permitted to go to the jail yard and was believed to have walked away unnoticed.

While searching for Kelley in Peabody, Inspector James Murphy arrested Joseph Iozinski, 26, of this city, who escaped from the Bridgewater state farm six months ago.

HOOVER TO PICK DELEGATES TO ARMS PARLEY

Stimson, Dawes and Gibson Expected to Head U. S. Delegation in London

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—Italian Ambassador De Martino today informed Secretary Stimson that his government had gladly and unconditionally accepted the British invitation to the five-power naval conference in London in January.

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—One of the longest list of candidates that has confronted President Hoover is that for posts in the American delegation to the naval parley in London in January.

Secretary of State Stimson is the one most mentioned for chief delegate. To assist him, of course, would be Ambassador Dawes, who conducted with Prime Minister Macdonald the initial negotiations, and Hugh S. Gibson, ambassador to Belgium, who has represented the United States at previous arms conferences.

One of the most important members is the one who serves somewhat as chief co-ordinator, actually the working assistant of the chief delegate.

Two prominently mentioned for that position are J. Theodore Marriner, chief of the western division of the State Department, and Pierre Boal, assistant chief of the division.

Edward C. Wynne, assistant to the historical adviser, and Michael J. McDermott, chief of the division of current information, are also talked of as likely candidates for posts.

The delegation will comprise an equally important contingent from the Navy Department. Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones and Commander H. C. Train are expected to be included.

Japan's Acceptance Is Without Reserve

Tokyo, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Japanese reply to the British invitation to participate in a naval conference in London in January was telegraphed today to Ambassador Matsudaira at London for transmission to the British foreign office. It was understood to be an unreserved acceptance containing these principal points:

Acceptance of the Kellogg pact as a basis for further disarmament negotiations.

Agreement to re-study the Washington treaty schedules of capital ship replacement with a view to reduction.

Father of Two, Cash and Girl Missing

Raymond L. Dempsey, 26, of Bennett st., Brighton, manager of a Causeway st. chain lunchroom, was sought in Philadelphia today in connection with the larceny of $1500 from his employers.

Police were also seeking a girl hairdresser, employed near Dempsey's place of business, and with whom he was friendly, who telegraphed her employer last night from Philadelphia she had been married that day.

Dempsey, who left a wife and two small children, is said by police to have disappeared Sunday night in an auto at the same time two days' receipts vanished from the lunchroom safe.

Dempsey's wife, who was Mildred Lucas, is at the home of her parents in Monson, while her children, Raymond L., Jr., 5, and Norman, 3, are being cared for by her mother at the Bennett st. house.

Mrs. Lucas declared there had been no dissension of any kind in the Dempsey home and she knew of no reason why he should have disappeared.

Police said they would apply today for a warrant charging Dempsey with larceny.

According to the police, the manager selected a time when two days' receipts had piled up in the safe of the lunchroom to make his getaway.

On Sunday he left home and went to the lunchroom, where he remained for some time. After his disappearance the management was notified and an investigation revealed the safe had been robbed.

Police of Hanover st. station were called and began a hunt.

3 HOMES BURN IN SAXONVILLE; $30,000 LOSS

Ten Persons Flee for Life; Alarm Calls All Framingham Firemen

A garage, three dwelling houses and a barn were destroyed today in Saxonville by a fire that threatened for a time to destroy that entire section of Framingham.

The loss was estimated at approximately $30,000.

The blaze started in Hayes' Garage and rapidly spread to the dwelling houses and the barn.

An explosion of a gasoline tank sprayed the highly inflammable fluid over a large territory and endangered firemen engaged in battling against a conflagration.

Ten residents of the dwelling houses and workers in the garage were forced to flee for their lives after being aroused by Patrolman Willis Dunham, who discovered the fire.

The garage was a mass of flames when firemen arrived and only a sudden shift of wind when the dwelling houses were burning saved a general spread to other structures.

A general alarm was sounded when the first apparatus arrived and an emergency call summoned all men of the second platoon who had been off duty.

The dwelling houses destroyed inclmies that occupied by Hemiker Bent, his wife, two children and Mrs. Mary Manners, mother of Mrs. Bent. They had hardly time in which to erase a few articles of clothing and flee.

Next went the home of Edward Dunn and then the third house, occupied by William Bennett and family. The barn destroyed was owned by Milton Bell and contained two loads of hay, wagons and farm implements.

When the wind shifted, it turned the flames toward an open field instead of in the direction of St. George's Catholic Church and many houses.

WOMAN 70 KILLS HUSBAND 78

Summit, N. J., Oct. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Laura Mathilda Titus, white-haired and wrinkled by 70 years of life, today slew her 78-year-old husband with an axe. The victim, James Titus, married her 49 years ago. Mrs. Titus confessed the killing to police after brief questioning.

The woman, weighing little more than 100 pounds, and hard of hearing, said she slew her husband because she couldn't endure his abuses any longer. He drank heavily, she said, and was intoxicated this morning when she struck him twice with an axe.

About 3:45 a. m., she said, in her confession to Police Chief John P. Murphy, her husband got up and went into the yard.

He returned half an hour later and asked her when she was going to get up, pulled the bed cover off her and then went down stairs.

Shortly after Mrs. Titus got up and went downstairs, where she found her husband lying on the floor of the living room.

Mrs. Titus then said she sat down at a writing desk where she could watch the prostrate form of her husband, and could see in herself whether she would kill the man whom she had married in Milltown in 1880.

"Will I, or won't I?" she asked herself. "God above, must I go through today as I have gone through for the last week and four days?"

"I will do it," she concluded, "if I go to jail for life for it."

Then she went into the yard and got the axe, she related. Upon her return to the house, she laid the weapon down and picked it up twice before she struck her husband.

She struck the second blow, she stated, "to make sure he was not breathing."

Her next move was to call four neighbors, who called a physician and police.

Mrs. Titus had lived with her husband in Milltown more than 30 years. He had been employed by an ice company until a few years ago. He received a pension from the company.

Dan Beard Hails Cave Man's Courage

SUFFERN, N. Y., October 16—Burt McConnell is making a wonderful experiment, according to Dan Beard, Boy Scout leader and veteran exponent of outdoor life, at his home here today, after reading of McConnell's initial experiences in the Canadian North Woods.

"If I were thirty years old, I'd like to try the same thing. But at my age, I guess it would be a little too much for me."

McConnell has plunged into the woods 33 miles north of Quebec, without tools, food or clothing, and will attempt, in two months, not only to survive but to make as much progress as the Indians and cave men did in much longer periods.

The daring experiment is being watched with the closest interest by explorers, scientists and public leaders, as well as by the rank and file of Americans and Canadians. Beard pointed out:

"McConnell will have a tough job. I was up in that region fifteen years ago searching for Post and Hawley, the balloonists who were forced down. We had a tough time ourselves, even though we were fully clothed and had plenty of food and implements.

"I remember, it was about the middle of June, and ice froze on top of our drinking water, and we had to use axes to break it. I wore a buckskin shirt and two or three sweaters and had heavy and serviceable boots.

"As McConnell is without any of these, I know he faces an extremely difficult and dangerous task."

SPURNING LOVE COSTS $100,000 AMHERST DIVORCEE HER LIFE

SUITOR THEN SENDS SHOT TO BRAIN

Connecticut Authorities Fix Tragedy as Murder-Suicide; She Was Mother of Three

Wallingford, Ct., Oct. 16.—Police were convinced today that Mrs. Anna Bryan Ayres, advertising expert who earned $100,000 a year, was shot to death by William Gaylord, a bookkeeper, who then killed himself.

Their bodies were found in a room at an inn here.

Mrs. Ayres, 41, was the divorced wife of Ernest Ayers, former Amherst professor, and mother of three children. Her home was in West Haven. Gaylord, 46, lived in East Hartford.

The tragedy climaxed an infatuation which had its inception last summer and which brought a proposal of marriage from Gaylord, who planned to divorce his wife.

Letters to Mrs. Ayres from Gaylord found in the room indicated she had refused to marry him. She was advertising head of the Iserger Brothers corset factory in New Haven.

Mrs. Ayres and Gaylord registered at the inn Monday night, as Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Gray of New Haven. Dr. John H. Buffum, medical examiner, said the murder and suicide had occurred four or five hours after the couple went to their room.

Mrs. Ayres' body was found in a chair. Sprawled at her feet was the body of her companion. Two empty shells were found in a revolver. The room contained numerous cigar and cigarette butts, but there was no evidence of a struggle.

Convinced that the man was responsible for both deaths, Dr. Buffum said there would be no coroner's inquest.

A.F.L. THUNDERS ITS WELCOME TO MacDONALD

Green Tells Premier Labor's Sympathies With His Peace Moves

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 16 (AP)—Down a human lane of applauding and cheering delegates, Ramsay MacDonald today entered the convention hall of the American Federation of Labor.

Accompanied by his daughter, Ishbel, and escorted by a committee of labor leaders, the Premier of Great Britain and the leader of England's Labor party received a thunderous welcome as he entered the hall and mounted the platform to be greeted by William Green, Federation president.

"No more warm hearted reception has come to him than you give here," President Green started his address of welcome, but he was halted by a storm of applause.

Continuing, he hailed the visit of the premier as "an unique occasion" and said that labor's sympathies were with Mr. MacDonald's efforts to "mobilize the agencies of peace."

Without dissent or debate, the convention of the American Federation of Labor today expressed its opposition to measures pending before Congress for universal conscription in time of war.

It adopted a resolution committee report declaring it to be essential as an evidence of good faith to the world that the American people shall, at least for the present, refrain from warlike preparations in the enactment of legislation.

Conscription of labor in war time, it added, would mean that "trades unions would be dissolved."

After ceremonies at the University of Toronto, which conferred an honorary degree upon Mr. MacDonald, he and his daughter planned to attend a reception arranged in their honor by the Ontario government.

A dinner at government house concluded the program for the visitors. A special train leaving at midnight will take them to Ottawa.

In Ottawa the Prime Minister expects to take up with Mackenzie King, Canadian Premier, discussion of the Dominion's part in the peace program, which was the subject of Mr. MacDonald's talks with President Hoover.

FATHER OF 12 IS SHOT BY GIRL

Rockville, Ct., Oct. 16 (AP)—Steve Gulish, 58, head of a family of twelve children, was in a hospital today in a critical condition from two bullet wounds in the head inflicted by his daughter, Jeannette Gerich, 18. The doctors believe Gerich will live.

The two bullets entered above and in front of the right ear. One went into the skull and the other bullet stopped at the side of the neck.

The daughter, Jeanette, was held in $7000 bail on the charge of assault with intent to kill. It is thought welfare organizations may arrange for her release.

Jeanette told the police that while her father was kind to the children through his bad temper, he had also threatened to kill her, although she said she knew of no reason for the threat.

Of the incident of last night, Jeanette said she had become angered by her father's treatment that when she found the gun in the pantry she took it to her room and loaded it with 32 calibre cartridges. Coming down stairs she walked behind her father who was asleep in the rocking chair, and fired at him.

R. I. COP DIES IN MYSTERY CRASH

Providence, Oct. 16—In mysterious circumstances that had not been cleared up many hours after the accident, Patrolman Robert F. Conway, 25, of Providence, was dead today, victim of an auto crash in North Smithfield.

Conway and Edward Hilroy, 39, of Bath st., were left, in an uncertain condition, at the office of Dr. George E. Reynolds in Elmwood ave., by a motorist who disappeared.

The policeman died within an hour. Hilroy remained unconscious.

Although State, Providence and Smithfield police found where a machine had skidded on the Douglas pike and had ripped away 20 feet of highway gravel and plunged off the road, they could not find the car.

Eventually they learned from a garage in Centredale that someone purporting to be a North Providence policeman had ordered the garage to tow in the wrecked machine.

Charges Thaw Tried to Hush Case

New York, Oct. 16 (INS)—"I didn't mean to do it. I am very sorry and want to make amends."

These words were attributed to Harry K. Thaw, Pittsburgh's millionaire playboy, by Marcia Estardus, 26-year-old entertainer, who is suing Thaw for $100,000, charging assault.

Taking the witness stand in the interests of her case today, the dark-eyed plaintiff said that Thaw called her on the telephone several days after the alleged New Year's Day assault in the Thaw apartment and consoled her with the above words.

Miss Estardus, whose real name is Mae O'Neill, said Thaw, during the conversation which took place January 6, asked her not to tell anyone of the affair.

"Do you remember you left tickets for a benefit dance while we were at breakfast. Would you like me to attend?" Thaw said, according to Miss Estardus.

The dancer went on to say that Thaw had asked her how she was feeling and she told him she was quite sick.

"He then asked me not to mention the affair. I assured him I would not as I was too ashamed of the whole proceeding even to tell my mother," Miss Estardus testified.

The girl sniffled during most of her testimony and used her handkerchief freely. Her elderly mother, Mrs. Mary O'Neill, sat in the front row and leaned forward intently during the testimony.

Following this call, Miss Estardus said she was telephoned by Morgan Pendleton, Thaw's secretary at the time of the alleged attack.

"Pendleton told me Thaw did not mean to hurt me and was very, very sorry. He said that every man does those things.

"He asked me if I remembered the cane when Thaw was accused of beating a boy in Philadelphia and then attempted suicide.

"He then asked me to write Thaw a letter, which I did."

Excerpts from the letter were then read.

"I am asking you to forget all that happened as I am not seeking publicity. I know that I will get you from time to [illegible] various places and want you to attend a benefit dance of mine," one portion of the letter read.

FRENCH MEET IN VERMONT

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 16—Two factions associated with L'Union St. Jean Baptiste D'Amerique, a French Catholic organization, were expected to resume their battle over the right of supreme president and supreme secretary to preside over national conventions and also on the amendment which bars officers from seeking more than two terms in office, when the convention opens today.

The battle, of interest to every member of the society all over New England, will be led by Edmonde Daignault, Woonsocket, R. I., newspaper publisher, who was at one time excommunicated from the Catholic church because of his attacks through his paper on one side, and with the present supreme officers, Henry Ledoux, president, and Elie Vezina of Woonsocket, R. I., on the other.

Monsignor Charles Bourque of Woonsocket, another prominent figure in the society, it appears will also be defeated in his efforts for the women's auxiliary from having national conventions. Supreme officers have endorsed the project in this movement, but this year they proposed it themselves and it was apparent that the bill would be passed.

Triennial instead of quadrennial conventions will also be decided upon at the request of representatives from Worcester, Providence and Cambridge.

He arm was apparently injured only slightly while Mrs. Bloomingdale's injuries proved to be serious. However, blood-poisoning developed and spread through Bloomingdale's system.

She then became associated with the Consumers' League of Massachusetts, and was active in the campaign for the 48-hour week for women and children. She was also active in the campaign for the ratification of the child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

Young said that 3000 cities in the United States would be a reasonable number, with a five mile limitation, and that there would be regular commercial planes running in and out of them.

Seadrome Passes First Test in "Storm"

Cambridge, Md., Oct. 16 (AP)—Artificial waves piled up by a 50-mile-an-hour wind early today in the miniature seadrome launched here yesterday to an unexpected test. The small model was not disturbed by the waves or wind, E. E. Armstrong, the inventor, said, and remained level most of the storm.

The 15-inch waves, Armstrong said, were equivalent to 15-foot waves in the full-sized seadrome to be placed in the Atlantic ocean approximately half-way between New York and Bermuda.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 16—The second Wilkins-Hearst expedition to the Antarctic arrived here aboard the S. S. Northern Prince, as is prepared to depart in a fortnight for the wintry base on Deception Island.

After receiving the official greeting of the Uruguayan republic from welcoming officials, we were informed that President Dr. Juan Campisteguy would receive the expedition on Thursday. We spent the afternoon sightseeing after being guests of the Rotary Club at luncheon.

A hasty examination of our stores showed that all the supplies shipped from Europe, including our Austin motor car and our special Jaeger and Burbury winter clothing, were already on hand. Everything that is required for the success of the expedition is assembled here, and ready to be stored aboard the Norwegian whaler Melville.

The Melville will arrive late toward the end of the month, and on October 20 we will steam out of the harbor and sail for Deception Island, where the winter is reported to be of more than the usual severity. We are well prepared, however, to breast the worst of the Antarctic's weather to accomplish our aims.

Parker Cramer and Al Chessman, the pilot and mechanic of the expedition, are already champing anxiously waiting to reach Deception Island, where our two airplanes were stored following the completion of the first part of our work there in the spring. We have brought along spare parts for the two planes. Victor Oleson, the radio operator, is also anxious to get his transmitter and receiver rigged up in the snow and ice land.

We expect to do most of our work this trip in Antarctic "daylight," as a good day's work will be practically around the clock twice. We expect to cover something like 1500 miles of coast line that is already known and then strike into the interior of Graham Land.

The time may come when that section of the Antarctic may have some commercial value. No doubt there are large deposits of ores which can be successfully exploited this part of the world may turn out, in time, to be the second Klondike.

Mrs. Edison's Remedy Is 'Get Out of Doors'

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 16 (AP)—In the opinion of Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, people who lack contact with outdoor life can not be really happy.

The wife of the inventor expressed her view in a message read at a session of the national recreation congress here. For 15 years she has been a director of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, under whose auspices the congress is being held.

"A curious thing about modern life is the way so many of us take our recreation in doses, as though it should be a sort of medicine instead of a part of daily life, something as necessary to existence as food," the message said.

"We go on for days and sometimes weeks without considering play, then comes a holiday or a week-end and we play with a vengeance. After a holiday many men and women return to their work more tired than they were before. Children are over-stimulated by the pace which grown-ups force them to follow in their own thoughtful pursuit of amusement."

THE FORD TOWN SEDAN

VALUE far above the PRICE

IN REVIEWING the many advantages of the Ford car, it is particularly interesting to note the relation between value and price.

The low first cost is a point to keep in mind at all times because it means a considerable saving to you in the purchase of the car.

Of even greater importance, however, is the reason for this low price and the manner in which it has been achieved without sacrifice of quality or performance.

Every purchaser shares the benefits of the Ford policy of owning the source of many raw materials —of making thousands of cars a day—of selling at a small margin of profit—of constantly giving greater and greater value through the vast industrial organization that has been built up for the making of this car.

A new degree of excellence has been brought within reach of all the people through the development of new manufacturing machines and the discovery and working out of new manufacturing methods.

Evidence of this is found in the extremely close limits of measurement maintained in the manufacture of vital parts. Some of these are held true to within a maximum variation of three ten-thousandths of an inch (.0003), reducing friction and wear and resulting in greater reliability, longer life and better performance.

As the quality of workmanship has been increased through the accuracy of the machine, so has the quality of materials been increased. The savings resulting from new manufacturing economies have been put right back into the car. Through typical Ford methods, materials once thought too expensive for a low price car have been made available for use in the Ford.

Today, more than ever, it is an outstanding example of high quality at low cost. Were it made in any other way, under any other business and profit policy, it would unquestionably cost you much more than the present price.

The use of the Triplex shatter-proof glass for the windshield is a definite indication of the quality that has been built into the Ford car. So are the four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers. The five steel-spoke wheels. The silent, fully enclosed six-brake system. The aluminum pistons. The chrome silicon alloy valves. The simplicity and efficiency of the lubrication, cooling, ignition and fuel systems. The large number of ball and roller bearings. The extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings. The many other mechanical features that count so much in reliability, economy and long life.

All of these are important considerations to every man and woman who is contemplating the purchase of a motor car. All are important reasons why the Ford delivers a value far above the price.

D. CHAS. H. HOOD
PRESIDENT

THE new Hood plant is on a site at 500 Rutherford Avenue, Charlestown, occupied by the Company since 1900. It covers a frontage on Rutherford Avenue of 187 feet, extending to a depth of 300 feet. The Ice plant capacity is 30 tons per day.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
500 RUTHERFORD AVENUE
BOSTON 29 MASS.

October 16, 1929

To our Customers—
Present and prospective.

We have just completed a new pasteurizing and bottling plant at 500 Rutherford Avenue, Charlestown.

As you will see, it is an imposing and spacious building. Although architecturally handsome, it is the equipment and arrangement inside that has chiefly concerned us. For here we have designed and constructed the most sanitary, most efficient, and most modern milk plant in the world.

We have put into it the newest, the most dependable milk handling devices that scientific minds have produced. Not one thing has been left undone to make it just what it was intended to be — the very best of its kind.

It represents the utmost in sanitation, the staunchest in steel, concrete and tile construction, while in efficiency it is right up to the minute — no less.

This Company is a New England institution. It is New England owned, operated, and managed. It is directed by the second and third generations of the founder's family.

This plant is the culmination of 83 years of Hood service. It typifies the spirit which has actuated our progress. This spirit of onwardness, of intense regard for the rights, comfort and safety of our customers, of determination to do things well, had its origin in the character of our founder. That it survives today undiminished you may visualize in this great plant just completed.

You are invited to visit us on October 17th, 18th and 19th, and inspect the plant.

Very truly yours,

Charles H. Hood
PRESIDENT

ESTABLISHED 1846.

THE chemical and bacteriological laboratory is equipped for 250,000 tests per year. Pasteurizing and bottling plants are supplied with filtered fresh air. The entire plant is so constructed that it can be flushed with water and live steam at the end of each day's run. It contains a laundry for the men's working suits and each operative is regularly examined for physical fitness by a well known physician.

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

IF WAS inevitable that some day a keen minded dramatist would turn in a smart comedy on the general sale loot of jury duty for women. Mrs. Fiske, with her natural eye to any topic as keen as any man's, appears to have snatched that comedy for her own talents. How well she fared with Fred Ballard's "Ladies of the Jury" is plainly reflected in the spontaneous gaiety that now fills the Hollis from pit to roof. For the world becomes a house of laughs.

WHILE Mr. Ballard has not tied himself to much embarrassing restraint in the matter of dramatic license, he has managed to stick reasonable close to the courtroom procedure and still leave the funny bone at full speed. With the aid of Mrs. Fiske, who takes her turn at jury duty and makes the most of it, the comedy carries all the reward marks of being just what the doctor ordered for drooping spirits. The author, to say the least, has given a new twist upon the already threadbare courtroom scene. Although the course here has far is pathetically homicidal, you are not expected to spoil your evening. For this you may thank the ladies—particularly Mrs. Fiske.

Nicholas Young

* * *

AN abrupt and wholly unconventional trial leads you to two acts of jury room excitement. With the stage set against her, eleven to one, Mrs. Livingstone Baldwin Grant (Mrs. Fiske) holds out for an acquittal. She knows the poor young thing never murdered her husband; her woman's intuition tells her so. Taking her first long jury duty, this society matron finds herself locked in a small room with a mixed assortment of new Jersey humanity, male and female. How the obstinate twelve are won over, one by one, makes a rich vein of entertainment as well over and in the spoken drama. There is a fine eye for the humor in the types as the keen-witted heroine goes about her task. Thirty minutes of the rattling good comedy taking an audience by storm.

THE turmoil and brawls of the jury room, at times seeming close to farce, demand acting of high quality. Mrs. Fiske has not only mastered the brightest spots in the fun but has added to them. An absolute nut, follows her through the evening. There is not a weak spot in the cast. Grace Overman, returned to actual duty after a long absence, gives both dignity and vocal charm to the role of the trial judge. Dudley Hawley and C. W. VanDoorn are excellent in contending lawyers, one brawling, one suave, while Germaine Giroux, young and attractive defendant, carries her own brand of hysteria into the courtroom and spreads it lushly.

SO much for the trial. Now for the jury scenes. Here Mrs. Fiske's own genius comes into play and the result starts. Mrs. Fiske has the hands full; she takes personal matching charge of the group who set a fast pace and are able to hold it. Among these are George Farren, Grace Overman, Claire Granville, Hallie Manning and Sarah Lawrence—also citizens of the Hollis.

STAR FINDS REVIVALS CLICK

SOME weeks ago Grant Mitchell sell now at the Plymouth in The Whole Town's Talking," assorted a humorous collection of manuscripts which had reached him through the play brokers and other sources. These were the works of both professionals and amateurs. He packed them into a steam trunk and took them with him upon a long sea voyage. He determined to read them in mid-ocean, with a view to finding a comfortable basis for a production with himself in a prominent part. He saw that he would have peace of mind and absolute quiet, and would be able to concentrate on works of these authors and would at least give them an even break.

Grant Mitchell

Strange to say, Grant Mitchell read all these plays, and, in quiet, peaceful surroundings, propitious to author and manuscript, but he found nothing to his liking. He found something good in every one of the plays, however, but nothing quite suitable for himself.

Mitchell then decided to revive some of his past successes. With the cooperation of W. R. Kane, the producer, they assembled a company for the presentation of "A Tailor-Made Man" and "The Whole Town's Talking."

Not being in the spirit to create a type similar to that of "Alias Jimmie Valentine," in which the crook is idealized, Mitchell and his producer, believing that romance is not dead, had recourse to these plays which, in every case, typifies the salient characteristics of Americanism.

There is no denying the fact that Mitchell is the hero in every one of these plays, the under dog, but with determination a big factor in the characterization.

SCREEN BILLS FOR WEEK FANCY

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

STRANGERS to be given the once-over for valuation and old friends held over or returning for a short stay, fill the program for the coming week's film offerings. At the Metropolitan, opening tomorrow, Clara Bow will be shown in her latest, "The Saturday Night Kid," a talkie. Supporting her are James Hall, remembered best for his work with Vilma Banky in "This Is Heaven" and known as "lucky play boy of the Western World" because of the way fortune has smiled on him, and Jean Arthur, who did excellently in "The Green Murder Case."

* * *

GLORIA SWANSON'S first talking picture comes to Loew's State next Monday. It is "The Trespasser," heralded as the Gloria the Great's greatest ever. Cast with her are Henry B. Walthall, little Wally Albright, one of the cutest of the film children, and Robert Ames. At Loew's Orpheum will be John Gilbert in "His Glorious Night," with the capable Katherine Dale Owen.

* * *

THE new B. F. Keith's on saturday presents "Flight," talkies, and declared to be brimful of thrills. In the cast are Jack Holt, Ralph Graves and Lila Lee. The Keith-Albee on the same day will screen "Side Street," featuring the three Moore brothers, Tom, Owen and Matt. The tying up of the trio into the same picture is a result of R-K-O enterprise.

* * *

THE Uptown and Washington St. Olympia held over that riot of fun by the Two Black Crows, Moran and Mack, "Why Bring That Up?" for another week, beginning Friday. On Saturday the Park presents a new production, "Hearts in Exile," starring Dolores Costello. With her are to be seen Grant Withers, James R. Kirkwood, George Fawcett and David Torrence. The story is a melodramatic tale of Russia and is said to be a colorful film.

* * *

THE Fenway on Saturday receives "The Gold Diggers of Broadway," a topnotcher as film extravaganza. On the same day the Scollay Square begins its week with Al Jolson in "Say It With Songs."

Looking Ahead

"Hello Yourself," musical comedy, at the Shubert-Apollo.

"Holiday," a comedy, at the Plymouth.

"The Age of Innocence" at the Wilbur.

"A Night in Venice," extravaganza, at the Shubert.

OCTOBER 22—

"Bitter Sweet," a Ziegfeld importation, at the Tremont.

NOVEMBER 4—

"Carry On," with Jack Donahue, at the Shubert.

LAUGHTER CUE TO GET COIN

"THE surest way to wealth nowadays is to amuse the public," say Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows, appearing in "Why Bring That Up?" at the Uptown and Washington Street Olympia.

"The public wants to rock with laughter. Look at Billy DeBeck, George McManus, Rube Goldberg and the other comic strip artists who have landed on Easy Street because of their ability to make people laugh.

"Al Jolson makes more money today than Caruso ever did. Caruso spent a life in study and he could make you cry. Jolson only took five vocal lessons in his life, but he makes folks weep, too.

"The Two Black Crows have for their aim in life to make people laugh. That they have succeeded is evidenced by their tremendous record sales, the popularity of their radio programs and now their motion picture debut.

The picture has an excellent supporting cast, headed by Evelyn Brent and Harry Green. There are a number of new songs and many spectacular chorus girl dance scenes.

"Deadline"

Joseph Schildkraut will be a reporter in Universal's "Deadline," adapted from Henry La Cossitt's story by Edward T. Lowe. Other players are Edward G. Robinson, Barbara Kent.

D. W. GRIFFITH EAST TO GET HIS SCREEN "LINCOLN"

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service

Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service, Inc.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—Pacing D. W. Griffith we find he is already in New York. Traveling to New York these days isn't what it used to be. Now it's what with fast trains and airplanes D. W. went to New York to interview Walter Huston for the part of Lincoln in "Abraham Lincoln." Walter Huston to Griffith's choice, and he has believes that he could talk to Joseph Schenck much better in a personal tete a tete than by wire or telephone.

Louella O. Parsons

Walter Huston ought to be excellent as Lincoln. He has the dignity, the appearance and the ability.

D. W. will return home by the Southern route on another little business deal of which we will hear more later.

CHARLES BICKFORD, the red-headed strong man of the films, has an interesting role awaiting him when he finishes emoting opposite Greta Garbo in Anna Christie." He has an interesting if George Hill and Hobart Henley's film "The Sea Rat," holding in abeyance the African story. I sort of remember that the Legionnaire drama was planned before the advent of the talkies. Maybe I am wrong.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random: Marion Davies taking a dancing lesson to the accompaniment of a violin. King Vidor and Harry Crocker in a spirited game of tennis. Dorothy Mackaill in a bathing suit playing tennis with Joe McCray. Frances Marion, Jeanette Johnstone and Elsie Janis working on animated discussion on the philosophy of life. Mary Hugh Murray acting as referee in the arguments. Cliff Edwards proving he's not so apt at ukulele as on the ukulele. Lupe Velez, one of Hollywood's prettiest blondes, receiving an offer to go in a New York show. Hollywood film producers take notice. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WIFE ASKS TWO MILLIONS IN ALIMONY

Cincinnati, Oct. 16 (AP)—Permanent alimony of $2,000,000 is sought by Mrs. Roberta Mosby from Oliver H. Mosby, president of the Mosby Medicine Company, who is suing for divorce.

Mosby charges his wife with neglect. Her cross petition charges neglect and cruelty. They were married in 1926. There are no children.

Mrs. Mosby avers that all the charges contained in her husband's petition are untrue. She lists her husband's property as realty here valued at $500,000, 90 per cent of the capital stock of the Mosby Medicine Company, valued at $4,000,000, and a trust fund of $500,000. She believes he owns a half interest in the "Sketch Book," a local comedy.

She states his entire estate has been accumulated since their marriage and contends she has a contingent dower interest in all of it.

Analysis revealed that not only did they look alike but had no alcohol at all. Frank was sent up for 90 days for selling bone beer.

Insull Says, 'Cut Cost to Sell More Gas'

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 16 (AP)—Samuel Insull, Jr., president of the Midland United Company, of Chicago, urged the establishment of lower gas rates when inducive to heavier consumption and more general use of gas for all domestic purposes, before the convention of the American Gas Association today.

"Sales can be increased in two ways," said Insull, "by securing new customers and by raising the consumption of existing customers. The first is more a matter of fortune than intelligence. Every gas executive will extend the mains when the return on the investment permits.

"The extensive expansion of the market, however, is almost entirely the result of outstanding increases in sales in the field can be only the result of sales promotion by a combination of attractive rates, persuasive advertising and proper salesmanship, calculated to convince the public that gas service in a home is modern service that the home is modern without gas service, and plenty of hot water, and promoting its living conditions increasing, if you please, the attractiveness and the fullness of the home life.

67,000 LIKELY TO JOIN STRIKE

New York, Oct. 16 (INS)—New York City's labor troubles which began last week with a walkout of 3000 gasoline truck drivers, threatened to become acute today.

Motivated by a sympathetic interest in the struggles of the gasoline truck drivers, 15,000 union garage workers, 25,000 chauffeurs and teamsters and 25,000 longshoremen were holding threats of strikes over their employers.

A walkout of these workers would almost constitute a general strike and paralyze the city's industrial activities.

Business and labor leaders declared today that there were signs of unrest in virtually every large industry. Two thousand members of the window cleaners' protective union were scheduled to call a strike as a gesture of respect to men who have been killed cleaning windows.

Holyoke Man Killed by Tank Explosion

Northampton, Oct. 16—Gabriel de Fabio of Bond st., Holyoke, died today in Cooley-Dickinson Hospital from injuries received when a 20,000-gallon gasoline tank filled with compressed air exploded at the Beacon Oil Company plant in North King st.

The tank was under repairs and the compressed air was being used in a test for leaks. One end blew out. Three other men injured are still in the hospital. They are Almerie Lisaler of Bennett st., Chicopee Falls; his son, Arthur, of the same address, and Albert Goodman of Main st., Holyoke.

A. F. L. OPPOSES DRAFT IN WAR

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 16 (AP)—Without dissent or debate the convention of the American Federation of Labor today expressed its opposition to measures pending before Congress for universal conscription in time of war.

It adopted a resolution committee report declaring it to be essential as an evidence of good faith to the world that the American people shall not resort to the present, refrain from warlike preparations in the enactment of legislation."

Conscription of labor in war time, it added, would mean that trade unions would be dissolved.

UNIFORM LAW FOR DIVORCE IS OFFERED

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 16 (AP)—Causes for divorce are left untold in a proposed uniform law on the subject submitted to the national conference of uniform state laws of the American Bar Association today by the social welfare section. The measure establishes jurisdiction, uninterrupted domicile of one year, and absolute divorce is not legal until a year after a decree nisi has been granted. A decree nisi may be appealed, but an absolute decree must stand as final.

The proposed standardized divorce act was prepared by a subcommittee of which Hollis R. Bailey of Boston is chairman.

A uniform child welfare act prescribing 14 years as a maximum age and forbidding gainful occupation to mean "gainful pursuit of any trade, occupation or branch of industry or labor, except agriculture, domestic service and athletic games," was submitted by the social welfare section.

New Fire in Gardner

PLAN BIG ARENA OVER RAILROAD TRACKS

New York, Oct. 16 (INS)—Negotiations for the construction of the huge outdoor arena over the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks in the heart of mid-town New York are expected to be closed within a short time.

The arena, intended for the staging of outdoor boxing and hockey matches, will have a seating capacity of 50,000, which could be increased to double that number.

The Madison Sq. Garden Corp. is behind the deal.

Coast Guard Fired On

Detroit, Oct. 16 (AP)—Coast Guards reported today they were fired on shortly after 4:30 a. m. after they had seized a beer laden rowboat and arrested its alleged owner at Grassy Island, in the Detroit river.

PEERLESS GETS HALF MILLION "O. K.'S"

James A. Beaumont, president of the Peerless Motor Car Corporation, estimates that a half-million "O. K." cars are included in every motor car built.

This statement was made in a letter by Beaumont to Peerless dealers and distributors dispersed around the world, in which he promulgated the heritage of 20 years of fine motor car building by the Peerless Company, now in its hands and prominently prominent in the future.

"Our rigid standards of manufacturing and inspection have played a major part going into the Peerless car," Beaumont wrote, "and our own institutional reputation covers the greater part of the twenty years in the present time, but our slogan is:

"The terms of sale have not necessarily changed since we first entered the motor car field, but the world, has a significant meaning in the Peerless plant.

"Each Peerless part must be perfect. From the time the metal leaves the mills, through the forging of the fashioning and finishing of the Peerless motor, and finally in your town, every part must pass a million written and spoken O. K. on the finished Peerless product.

"When we assure the Peerless motor and body that some time during each minute part has been given the individual attention to receive the form 'O.K.' When the car is rolled off of the line, we proudly and confidently stand up and feel as if we were standing on any of public gaze and exclaim 'O.K.' Certainly, such a statement is in no way an exaggeration."

Stainless Steel for Pierce-Arrow

The Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company announced yesterday from Buffalo the introduction of stainless steel in the manufacturing of motor cars in the manufacturing and the car.

The first program is being launched tonight, featuring Graham McNamee, announcer, and Phil Spitalny and his Hotel Pennsylvania orchestra, from the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York. The Pierce-Arrow program will be broadcast each Wednesday night at the same hour over the same network.

To make it convenient for listening interest in the broadcasts, the Pierce-Arrow Company has arranged with dealers in various cities to have radio sets in their salesrooms so that prospective purchasers may hear the programs.

$3.95 for "Polly Perkins" Arch Support Shoes

First Time at Less than $4.95

First, look at the styles shown in the sketches. No "arch-supporty" appearance here, but good looking shoes that may walk smartly in Fashion's parade.

Second, remember that the materials are fashionable black or brown kid, or patent.

Third, consider their construction as shown in the sketch below. The narrow heel-counter fits snugly, the Cuban heel gives you a solid walking base, the rubber lift cushions the step and prevents slipping. The steel arch and the soft metatarsal support lift the foot gently at the "tired places." The flat welt sole keeps the weight of the body evenly distributed over the foot.

Fourth, consider the price, $3.95—and remember that this is the first time Polly Perkins Shoes have been sold at less than $4.95. We persuaded the manufacturer to make this inducement in order that more Boston women could learn about Polly Perkins arch support shoes—exclusively on sale in Boston in White's Thrift Basement.

$12,000 LIQUOR SEIZURE IN CAMBRIDGE

Raiders Say Contraband Was Property of Hub Bootleggers

Acting Police Chief Patrick J. Hurley led a squad of inspectors on a raid that resulted in seizure of liquor valued at between $12,000 and $18,000 on Second st., East Cambridge.

The seizure came after the squad of seven men had maintained a vain all-night vigil in the lofts of a stable nearby. They had hoped to capture the owners of the liquor, but the 12-hour wait was in vain.

Gin, whiskey and wine comprised the haul. The liquor was cached in 88 burlap sacks which had been secreted in a corner of the barn. The sacks carried the scent of salt water, leading to the belief that the liquor recently had been taken from the hold of a vessel.

Chief Hurley said he believed the load was of exceptional quality.

Sergt. Charles H. Presho, head of the Cambridge vice squad, who with Chief Hurley led the raid said the stable was raided several months ago, when a hidden bootlegger shot at Sergt. Timothy Falvey.

The liquor was the property of Boston bootleggers who had been using East Cambridge as a base of operations, according to Sergt. Presho.

ARMY ELEVEN DUE IN HUB TOMORROW

FOR SPORTS—CALL LIBERTY 1000 — WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1929 — FOR SPORTS—CALL LIBERTY 1000

Big College Elevens in Crucial Tests Saturday

NOTHING THIN ABOUT THIS RED LINE ARMY MUST CRUSH SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Crucial Tests for Big Teams Saturday

By BILL GRIMES

WITH the exception of Notre Dame and Fordham, all of the more prominent college elevens, which have met any real opposition, have encountered defeat or have been tied, even at this early stage of the football season.

Already Yale, Princeton, N. Y. U., Georgia Tech, Brown, Navy, Lafayette and Georgetown have felt the sting of defeat. Although the losers suffered by these teams carry back marks, they are by no means fatal.

It is possible for anyone of them to come back and receive full recognition by going through the remainder of their schedule with flying colors. In fact, it is debatable if they are not better off than one of the elevens which has to ask only that it be allowed a clean slate.

There are some very important games listed for this week-end and any of the contesting eleven will be in a position to step out in a big game "under fire."

HARVARD-CADETS INTERESTED

The Harvard-West Point clash at the Stadium will be a battle between two untested elevens. Harvard has played two games, Rutgers and University of New Hampshire, bring which they met with little or no opposition.

The Crimson has the best variety of football talent in years, but its prospects would be brighter had it been forced to extend itself before meeting the Army. The same is true of West Point, which has played Boston University, Gettysburg and Davidson.

Regardless of whether or not West Point is as strong as last season, it is quite a step for Harvard to go from two small New England colleges to the Army.

The Crimson ball carriers have not been hit hard this season. Bates and New Hampshire were noticeably weak tacklers. But it will be a horse of another color when the Kaydets start cracking them on Saturday. West Point plays hard football, a type which Harvard has not run into this year and Dr. Tommie Richards is going to put in a busy Saturday afternoon.

TEST FOR GREEN

Dartmouth and Columbia, the attraction at Baker's Field, have been scoring at will this season. The Green has run up a total of 158 points against Norwich, Hobart and Allegheny, while the Lion has been credited with 121 points at the expense of Middlebury, Union and Wesleyan.

Dartmouth has played Columbia 43 games, four of which were won by the Hanoverians. Thirty years ago, in the first Dartmouth-Columbia game, when Maj. Frank Knaggs, "Indian" McAndrews, Ollie Boyle, Fred Corliss and E. Lowe were carrying on for the Green, Columbia won 22 to 0, but, although the Green has had at least one call that have made aged to win the last four contests.

The Baker's Field attraction brings together two strong teams, both represented by better elevens than last year, when Dartmouth won a 21 to 7 decision. The Green will have its full strength available when Columbia. Offensively, Dartmouth will rely on Al Marsters and Columbia on Ralph Hewitt. Marsters and Hewitt are the top punters in the East, and they should furnish the fans with plenty of thrills by their spectacular punting.

FORDHAM PLAYS H. C.

There will be a couple of counter attractions to the Dartmouth-Columbia game. Holy Cross and Fordham in the Polo Grounds and Penn State and N. Y. U. in the Yankee Stadium. Due to the great win over N. Y. U., Fordham expects to outdraw the Violet, for the first time since Chick Meehan took over the coaching duties at N. Y. U.

Down in Franklin Field, Philadelphia, the University of California is taking on Pennsylvania. California plays conservative but alert football, was undefeated until the final game last season with Georgia Tech, and has the outstanding Pacific coast back in Benny Lom. Although Penn has won its three games, it has been unable to stop any of its opponents from scoring, having a total of 21 points scored against it by Braudin & Marshall, Swarthmore and V. P. I. while California was held to a scoreless tie by St Mary's.

YALE BATTLES BROWN

Unless last Saturday's games took too much of a toll, the Yale-Brown game should be a battle royal. Yale is trying to swing back into a winning, after its upset down in the Cracker country, while Brown, fresh from its victory over Princeton, will still be trying to offset that opening game defeat by Springfield.

Only Everybody on Field Heard Rockne's Whisper

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 16 (AP)—Knute Rockne is convinced his 1929 football team is alert above all things.

Because of his ailing leg, Rockne directed his team in practice from an automobile and by means of a radio amplifier.

The varsity was stopping Wisconsin plays consistently so he called his assistant, Tom Lieb, and whispered a complicated badger formation.

The reserves tried it and so completely did the varsity halt it that Rockne was mystified. Later, he discovered the reason.

The whispered conversation bounced out so loudly the players had away heard and memorized it. For later whisperings the amplifier was turned off.

BROWN TO TRY NEW PLAYS

Providence, R. I., Oct. 16—There will be no shifts in the Brown line-up for the Yale game, and the Lid team will probably face the Blue eleven and that held Princeton until late in the game, when Coach McLaughry replaced his end, one halfback, the fullback and one tackle.

Six of the Bears played through the entire Tiger game, proving themselves worthy successors to the 1928 Iron Team.

Coach McLaughry has ordered comparatively little work this week.

Secret new plays were put in use by the Brunonians in the game with Yale and Brown scored each other in the games a week ago under the terms of a modified coaching agreement between coaches Sisler and McLaughry.

Brown's attack was youthful, with all but one of the backfield composed of sophomores. Captain Edward Edwards, regular guard and tackle, will not play this week-end in effort to get the Purple in position of the third to big Princeton-Columbia games.

Argentine Polo Team Is Selected

Santa Paula, Argentina, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Argentine polo team which is scheduled to begin a tour of California at the beginning of 1930, has been definitely constituted as follows:

No. 1—Alfredo J. Harrington, handicap 5. 2—Juan J. Reynal, handicap 5. 3—Jose C. Reynal, handicap 7½. 4—Manuel Adrada, handicap 7.

The polo players have been busy selecting the ponies they will use with them Harrington paid 50 pesos (about $7750) for one horse, a record price for the Argentine.

Only Iceman

John Jankoski of Milwaukee was the only member of the Duke Blue Devils to carry ice last summer in his home town.

B. C. Eleven Off for Dayton Grid Clash

BOSTON COLLEGE'S football squad will leave tomorrow afternoon at 3:40 for Dayton, Ohio, where it will meet the dangerous University of Dayton eleven on Saturday.

Bagan is a former pupil of Knute Rockne, whom, it is rumored, is responsible for placing Notre Dame on the grid map. Bagan has given his team the Rockne stuff and B. C. is expecting to run into the same kind of a defensive position that have faced last week in Villanova, coached by Harry Stuhldreher, another ex-student of Rockne.

Bob Dower, the hot-commuter of Norwood who established that town's reputation which is now being perpetuated by Tony Hao, Dean Hale, Lou Saad and Bill Rooney, is the right man in the right place at the right time. Dower is a triple threat man and is employed by Notre Dame in the office at the present time.

He has been dropping out of practice on the weekends for the purpose of trying his Alton Manor golf course to speed. And if he has not sunk of that sort of practice to get the Dayton in position of his friends to big Frankie Leonard's Holy Cross.

DAYTON TEAM TRICKY

Dayton, like Villanova, has a long category of bewildering plays. They have a variety of fake passes and runs and are as deceptive as one of Arizona's blonde movies.

It may be concluded that Villanova helped B. C. last Saturday. Villanova used about every kind of a puzzling play possible and left B. C. somewhat accustomed to being baffled. If Villanova hadn't also left so many cripples, McKenney might send a letter of thanks to the new Houdini, Stuhldreher, who coaches that club.

Dower was one of the smartest students B. C. had. To watch him graduate about you'd imagine that he had spent a good deal of his life in foreign London. But in all ways did what was right on the gridiron. And the matter he's sent Joe McKenney a replete with good tips that should help B. C. more than a little.

McKenney will unfold a few of the Dower warnings to his charges today. But he won't spend too much time on it for he intends to put his squad through something of a strenuous workout.

SQUAD PICKED TONIGHT

Joe will select the squad who'll make the trip tomorrow. The boys will be notified in the locker room after practice and will have time to pack up their vanity cases and be ready for the jaunt tomorrow.

Thirty Eagles will make the trip. About 20 of them are certain of their bunks on the sleeper. But the other 10 are all unknown, and that's why today's practice might be worth watching.

Mike Herman and George O'Connell are about the only boys who were sure of going who'll have to be left behind in need of repairs. Herman, regular tackle and a pip at that, has torn muscles and O'Connell, first reserve guard, has an injured ankle and needs a cane to hobble about.

Bud German, who looked like a million dollars against Villanova, may be up into O'Connell's place. How it is that Gotham boast been rated ahead of O'Connell all year is a mystery. Bud doesn't look like much in practice. But he's a bone-crusher when he sees the whites of enemy eyes.

Joe Kelley, a sophomore seems to have gained a berth. Kelley is a good defensive back, and Boston College needs one. Kelley puts everything into a football game, and started the last season regularly with the Eagles. He's the type of player with a flying tackle two weeks ago.

LEGION PLANS GRID GAME

James F. Fay and John L. Fay athletic officer and coach of the respectively, of the Chicago Pilchon Post, A. L., will leave the Last Boston Airport morning in a privately owned plane for Athens Ga., where they will confer with Dr. S. V. Sanford of the University of Georgia and executive of the Southern intercollegiate conference, in regard to selecting the Southern football players to line up against an all-New England college team in December at Braves Field in the charity football game which will be staged for the benefit of the post's charitable relief fund.

Al Friedman Boxing in Chicago Tonight

Chicago, Oct 16 (AP)—A pair of rugged contenders for Sammy Mandell's lightweight crown, King Tut of Minneapolis and Lope Tenorio of the Philippines, tangle in the principal 10-round match at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

It will be the second meeting of the two who clashed in New York last year, Tenorio winning the decision after 10 stirring rounds.

Trojans to Face Dilboy on Sunday

The Quincy Trojans, one of the strongest semipro grid teams in Greater Boston, will oppose the Dilboy eleven next Sunday at Dilboy Field, Somerville. The Trojans have been marching through the smaller semipro teams with ease this fall and are expected to give Dilboy a stiff battle. Quincy fans are anticipating a victory for their eleven.

CHANGES DUE AT TUFTS

Coach Sampson will send his men through another stiff scrimmage at the Tufts Oval this afternoon when the Jumbos will take on Bob Abbott's pair of varsity aides. The juniors will play on the defensive while Sampson will try out the backs in plays for the remainder of the week.

The scrimmage will take more than a little to gain against the first stringers and several men may be promoted to the varsity in the next few days. This is causing some apprehension among the last year players who are trying to be displaced.

Jack Kinney is still on the bench with his injured leg and will not be used Saturday. Although Kinney is not a regular he is counted on by Sampson to help out in the backfield.

Coach Sampson and Dave Lawrence, Academy of the Tufts Field next Friday afternoon instead of the following Friday as was originally scheduled.

The latter date points to the final game with Bates on the local field the week after.

McGill and Meyers in Go at Grand

Pat Magill, Irish heavyweight wrestling star, will make his second start of the budding wrestling season tomorrow night in the Grand Opera House, when he will meet Freddy Meyers of Chicago in the feature finish match of Paul Bowser's weekly show.

Magill has been matched to Somerville for the past 10 days and has been training steadily, his every focussed on a certain crown that Gustave Adolphus Sorenson may wears. Last week he published off Jack Gaudon and tomorrow night will attempt to clean up the brilliant Meyers from further consideration.

Meyers will arrive from Chicago today in time to go through a light training session at Toland's gym.

Promoter Bowser has arranged a unofficial match between Stanley Stasnik, the powerful Pole, and Bob Ribber McCoy Cambridge boy, who is starring for the Dibby Post football team.

Football Music

The student band is closely related to football in most of the big colleges. New York University took the band to its camp.

Eagles Refuse to Become "Owls" at Marquette

Boston College and Marquette University will not play in the night time under flood-lights when these elevens clash in an intersectional football game at Milwaukee on November 16.

Marquette's stadium is equipped with the paraphernalia for playing after dark and Marquette has been doing so thus far in the season. It meets Iowa next Saturday night.

If the Eagles were Owls this might be O. K. But Graduate Manager says "nothing doing" on a football game under the searchlights. He's afraid that B. C. might be like the night-school student who couldn't read, write and "figger" in the daytime.

YANKS PILOT TO BE NAMED TUESDAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (INS)—Officials of the New York Yankees today reiterated earlier statements that although the man to succeed the late Miller Huggins had been chosen, his identity would not be revealed until next Tuesday.

The majority of baseball men are of the opinion that Art Fletcher would be the final selection now that Babe Ruth has been eliminated as a possibility.

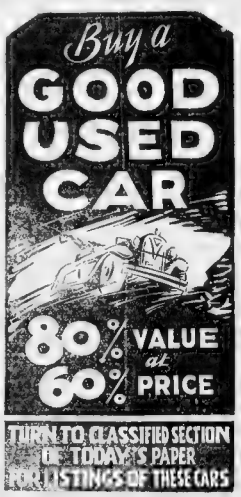
USED CARS WITH PLENTY OF UNUSED MILES



SOME people don't like the idea of buying a used car. They don't like to admit they are driving a used car. But bear this important fact in mind—Every car that you see on the street is a used car.

No matter how new it is, no matter how low the mileage on the speedometer, the price depreciation starts the day the car is delivered—from then on it is a used car.

Every year thousands of Bostonians trade their cars in for newer models—taking their losses in depreciation—and setting up a bargain for the other fellow.

Thousands of these cars are sold as used cars to wise buyers who get thousands of additional miles of dependable, comfortable transportation at a ridiculously low cost per mile.

Many a used car bargain is advertised daily by the Automobile Merchants of Greater Boston. Arrangements can be made whereby the cost of the car is spread over a period of time, with easy monthly payments.

The reliable Automobile Merchants of Greater Boston have many GOOD USED CARS with plenty of unused miles.

SYRACUSE IN NIGHT GAME

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 16 Al hough its hopes for an undefeated season were blasted by Nebraska in a sensational intersectional football game last Saturday the Syracuse University eleven is to resume play again on Saturday, this time against John Hopkins, Baltimore for the second great rushcentre football game of the Syracuse and Hobart in its opening game until a thoughtful, wet and chilled Stadium was packed to capacity. Hundreds of fans were unable to purchase tickets and thousands were forced to stand for the periods, thereby missing many the thrilling spectacles of sitting in the darkness and watching eleven battle

After Hopkins the Orangemen meet Brown at Providence. This is a game they are now pointing for, although they do not underestimate the Baltimoreans power the Brown team will face a powerful line and a speedy backfield, so Coach Regan has had a hard time dropping a terrific one touch down game to the Westerners.

The Syracuse squad is in perfect condition physically

"They tell me that this Kosky person has done some good fighting in the Middle West, and that he will give Martin a rather large evening.

"JACK SHARKEY is also going to make the trip. He wants to be in a ringside seat leaning against the ring when Joe Vincha, his new heavyweight protege, swings into action against Cyclone Harris of Worcester in the semifinal. Dobie Building Up Cornell Attack

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 16—With most of the regulars, who have been out of condition for the past two weeks back in uniform, Coach Gilmour Dobie began to build his strongest available lineup for the Princeton game here Saturday

During a scrimmage session, which followed a drill in fundamentals, the second and third elevens used Princeton plays against the varsity and gave the first eleven a thorough drill in defensive work.

The varsity devoted a good part of the workout to forward passing, which, it is expected, will play a greater part Saturday than usual in the Cornell attack

Howard Johnson and Stevens were the passers with Rousseau and Alexander at the ends and Handiman, a back, on the receiving end

There were no changes in the lineup, other than the replacement of second string men with regulars, who have recovered from minor injuries.

STAR BACK LOST TO CRUSADERS

Worcester, Oct 16—It is definitely stated today that Hank Garrity, powerful right halfback of the Holy Cross eleven, who is smart on defense and rugged on the offense, will not be ready for the game with Fordham on Saturday

He is suffering from throat infection and will not be allowed to practice by the team's physician

Garrity is just the type of a back needed by the Crusaders Saturday, and his absence may hurt the teams chances considerably

Big Wars Earn Less Than Small Fights

New York, Oct 16 (INS)—Heres one for the books. The biggest outdoor fight of the season, the brawl between Tommy Loughran and Jack Sharkey, drew $320,000.

The junior lightweight mixup of last Friday featuring Al Singer and Young Zazzerne drew $78,000

Yet the Singer-Zazzy fight left Madison Square Garden a profit of $29,000, whereas Tommy and Jacks affair left but $25,000 for the Garden coffers.

All because of the high, wide and handsome purses demanded by the bigger boys and the heavy tax exacted by the Government on the outdoor party.

GOOD GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON
Golf's Greatest Teacher

In the golf swing there are two paths—one path for the clubhead, another for your hands. The ordinary player is likely to have his mind much on the clubhead's path not enough on the path h hands follow. The latter is the important one. Since obviously the clubhead goes as your hands go.

This hand-path I will have you note goes along a straight line into and through the ball. Observe that in today's sketch. If you make yourself a pair of these lines on the ground, one for the clubhead and one for your hands you can observe how your hands travel back and forth along the line, and at the same time you can make relatively important discoveries by watching the clubhead, some what it does when you let your hands travel away from this line. Make some of these interesting and informing experiments

ATTITUDE OF MOTHER MAY BREED JEALOUSIES

Inclined to Favor the Son, Says Noted Psychologist

By LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.
Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

IT is natural enough that a young girl as well as the young man should center affection upon the other. The baby is helpless and must needs depend for ever upon the other. And a mother is, of course, responds to the needs of her child, and therefore powers affection upon both her male and female offspring without showing favoritism to either.

Dr. L. E. Bisch

As children grow older however mothers often begin to play favorites. Often mothers do not realize what they are doing.

The strongest attraction always exists between opposite sexes, and so mothers tend to favor their sons, sometimes even at the expense of their daughter's feelings.

Girls can suffer because of this. They feel often that they are not wanted. Such an attitude on the part of a mother can lay the groundwork for future problems and states and makes the child feel inferior.

A mother should also realize that, as her son grows to manhood, his affection for her will tend to be stronger than that for his father.

The wise mother takes care that such a condition does not become too strong. If it does it keeps the son from feeling free to love another girl. Nothing so much as this can prevent him from wanting to go out with other girls. Nothing so much as this can socially retards his falling in love and marriage.

All mothers seem to want to hold on to their sons as long as possible.

This may be good for the mother but it is not good for the son. It prevents him from developing a feeling that the mother loves her better than any other woman and sometimes better than herself. She may even awaken animosity against the girl in love with that woman.

If all sons were willing to their mothers over long the propagation and preservation of the race would soon suffer.

Indeed as early as possible every woman with a growing boy should study her own attitude toward him carefully and honestly and should see to it that it is not as it should be the opposite.

A woman should not unconsciously try to find a wife who will follow and idolize his mother and he succeeds at being a husband and father will depend largely upon the fitting and unselfish part he plays in which he resolves to be first to his mother.

A man must make a man of her son at all cost no matter how much it hurts to see him don long pants and show independence. Care must be taken to keep the son from "straightforward and truthful especially as concerns his attitude toward his father. Often a son will share secrets with his mother of which the father is to be kept in ignorance. This is decidedly bad for character building.

B. C. Forbes

bursed for civic and charitable enterprises in the communities in which they operate.

The Secretary of the National Chain Store Association estimates that, if this is generally done, chain stores will write a check for Main Street totaling between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 a year.

• • •

Another fact: Investigation reveals that thirty-two chains now have a total of 172,701 stockholders. Of these, only 41,000 are employes of the stores.

• • •

Our railroads had been subjected to much hostile legislation before the awakening to the importance of enforcing politicians that the nation's transportation systems were not owned by a few rich bankers, but by investors—large and small, men, women and children. More recently, public utility managers have emphasized how widespread is the ownership of their securities, with the result that regulatory bodies have thought twice before taking drastic anti-utility action.

Now it is the turn of chain stores to be threatened with restrictive legislation. Hence the anxiety to do more than they have done in the past to win local favor; hence, also, the new interest in finding out how narrowly or widely chain stores are owned. The editor of the Chain Store Review has kindly furnished this column, in advance of publication, the following table showing the number of stockholders in various chains:

At their recent convention in Chicago the National Chain Store Association set themselves squarely to face their problem of public relations. A fund of $250,000 was set up to cover all the operating costs of the national association—and not, as an erroneous press report had it, for propaganda.

The chain stores propose first, to set up a true research department, to study themselves and to educate themselves; second, they will strive to educate the public to the value of the chains as public servants.

Says the report of the executive committee: "Our public relations activity must be directed to the attention of the following specific classes: the public, business men, women in the home, students in colleges and universities as to the promise of the chain store field for business and investors; financial chain store securities, banks and banking groups, farm population, labor organizations, Federal and State executives . . . It is apparent that our first line of offense in this program is the store at the front—the employe. He is our everyday contact with the public and John Smith and John Public, and last on the reactions of the public toward its treatment by our personnel."

• • •

After all, no industry, no corporation can afford to ignore or to affect its conduct has upon the mind and the temper of John Smith and John Public.

UTILITIES ON CURB OFF AS OILS GAIN

New York, Oct. 16—Public Utility Curb market was again sharply depressed by severe selling spell in the utilities group. Trading was comparatively quiet, but stocks found little support and heavy offerings and short selling were unusually effective.

The sharp downturn in steel operations and leadings of revenue freight, as announced over night, proved unsettling to speculative sentiment generally. Advices from important sources that fundamental business conditions remain healthy and that confidence over the Federal Reserve brokerage loan figures to appear tomorrow was evident.

American Gas and Electric and Commonwealth Edison tumbled 10 points and more while other issues such as Electric Bond and Share, Electric Investors, Standard Power and Light, Allied Power, Amalgamated Foreign Power warrants, American Light and Traction and Central States Electric lost from 5 points to 10 points. American Superpower, United Light and Power A, United Corp warrants, Middle West Utilities and others declined moderately.

The oils generally gave a better account of themselves than other shares, in response to the sharp decline in production last week, which was regarded as evidence of definite progress toward curing the overproduction ills.

Cosden again soared several points to a new high ground. Cities Service, however, encountered some profit taking on its recent advance. Most leading issues in the group were steady to firm, but Humble ragged a few points.

Industrials were highly irregular with the general trend lower. Some of the more volatile issues such as Tubize tumbled several points. Motor Stocks, however, were more than 2 points. Investment trust and trading company issues moved in a narrow range, mostly lower. In the mines, United Verde Extension sagged to a new low.

DROP IN OUTPUT OF OIL SHARP

American Petroleum Institute estimates crude oil production in week ended Oct. 12 averaged 2,838,100 barrels daily, a decrease of 48,950 from preceding week's average but 338,000 higher than corresponding week of 1928.

Imports of crude and refined averaged 253,000 barrels daily, against 361,285 in preceding week. Total new supply averaged 3,091,000 barrels daily against 3,248,333 in week ended Oct. 5.

There were major reductions last week in California production. Largest decrease was in Texas Panhandle fields of 16,400 barrels daily to 108,200. California was next with a decrease of 13,800 to 572,500 a day, and Kansas reported daily average of 112,100, off 12,400 from week before. Midcontinent average 1,583,850 barrels, a lecrease of 19,000 from previous week.

Gulf coast fields produced 165,150 barrels

FINE POINTS OF MODERN HOMES

By BETTY BONNELL

Betty Bonnell

THE era when wallpaper was just wallpaper designed in only scrolls and giant roses

[illegible] background for [illegible] a [illegible] heavy plush draperies or damask effect [illegible] rooms [illegible] And in their place [illegible] come new, artistic designs and wallpapers that are the handiest [illegible] ever [illegible] with each room [illegible] its own type and individuality.

There is no mistaking the fact that wallpaper has at last come into its own and once you begin looking around for designs I know you will fairly gasp at the wonderful creations brought to us by the greatest geniuses of design and color who have suddenly come to the realization that wallpaper offers a field of expression that has no limitations.

My first advice to you when looking at new designs is to keep carefully in mind the type of furniture and decorative theme of your furnishings. So often, on selects a paper that is simply lovely in the decorator's store, but utterly inappropriate for the room in which it is used.

In homes where furniture runs chiefly to period designs it is comparatively easy to select the proper wallpaper by having your decorator show you a group of designs conceived for the very period with your furniture represents.

I also want to remind you of that common mistake of selecting small patterns for a room that happens to be small. In theory this may sound correct, but for actual results it is often disappointing. Rather, I would advise an open pattern for the small room which creates the effect of larger space.

Another way of creating a seemingly larger space is by selecting vertical striped patterns which make the ceiling seem higher. On the other hand, if your aim is to create the opposite effect in a rather spacious room, select a pattern with lines running from side to side or with designs that seem to take a horizontal spread.

Another way to enhance the effect of smaller space is use wallpaper of darker tones in a contrasting all-over pattern which seems to enclose the room and thereby gives it smaller proportions to the eye.

If you are anxious for an unusual and bolder pattern, close attention should be given to the general construction of the walls.

If you have to contend with angles and broken-up wall spaces, be sure that the design is such as to conceal distracting lines, and in some cases it is even advisable to run the wallpaper right across the ceiling in order to attain a feeling of unity in the makeup of the room.

BANK BUILDING PROGRAM BIG

Chicago, Oct. 14—The United States is the leader of a bank building program marked by the erection of record-breaking institutions, A. F. Dickinson, president of the Indiana Limestone Company, pointed out today. The new strongholds will help house the greatest wealth in the nation's history, for bank deposits are now at the unprecedented total of $53,345,000,000, according to President Dickinson. This is an increase of 3 per cent over a year ago. Gains in aggregate deposits are shown by 30 states, losses by 15 and no change in three. Arizona and Delaware stand at the head with 11 per cent gain each, and New York is second, with 11 per cent advance.

Bearing their heads as fitting testimonials to the public's wealth are some of the most monumental structures ever designed.

Fashioned after Trinity Church, at the very gateway of the New York financial district is the latest of these, the Irving Trust Company, said President Dickinson, illustrating the new construction era. Fifty stories high, and at 1 Wall St., it dominates that thoroughfare and lower Broadway with its great mass of gray stone hewn from the quarries of Indiana. Strength and enduring nature are typified in the huge piers which form the base, structure has been designed.

Appropriately enough, in the financial center of the New York district, is the Federal Reserve Bank, with $18,537,000,000. Pennsylvania is second, with $12,000,000 and then follow in order Illinois, Massachusetts, California, Ohio, New Jersey, Michigan, Connecticut, Missouri and Texas, the only other states with deposits exceeding $1,000,000,000.

The figures cover all classes of deposits and virtually all banks and trust companies, together with all state institutions and private institutions subject to public control.

Property Leased on Oliver Street

Arthur P. Pearce, Jr., announced a long term lease of the ground floor and basement of the building at 24-28 Oliver st., containing more than 20,000 sq. ft. of floor space. The lessees were the State Street Trust Company, trustee under the will of A. W. Burrage, and the lessees Curry Brothers Oil Company, who will occupy after alterations.

Better Quarter for Rock Island Seen

Rock Island September net is estimated by New York brokers at $1,623,961 for September, 1929, while gross is expected to increase over the figure for 1928 by about $1,000,000 back. mail pay will be included in earnings before and of the year, and $15,047,961, or $15.44 a share on 743,580 common shares after allowing for preferred dividends against $12,91 for 1928.

It is possible, not for the final quarter will be better than in 1928. Gross in early part of October ran ahead of last year.

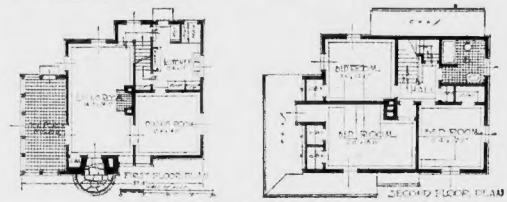
Cottage Type Home Costing $12,500



DISTINCTIVE OLD ENGLAND COTTAGE

By National Modern Homes Bureau, Inc.

THIS modern cottage home, A-170, is taken directly from Old England and retains all of the picturesque charm of the ancient original.

The deeply recessed entrance doorway, set in stone, the treatment of the roof and the unusual chimneys are authentic in their reproduction, yet they are decidedly new in America.

The adoption of the old details, if carried out with fidelity, gives one a home of distinction and a work of artistic merit of the first order.

The architects have worked out an admirable plan that fits perfectly within the walls of the old cottage. This plan is thoroughly modern, practical and livable in every detail.

COMPLETE working plans and specifications of this house illustrated above may be obtained for a nominal cost from the National Modern Homes Bureau, Inc. Any technical questions regarding this house will be answered without cost or obligation. Address the National Modern Homes Bureau, Inc., Real Estate Dept., Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. Refer to House A-170.

The arrangement of the stairway permits one to ascend from the kitchen as well as from the living room, thus doing double service.

A stairway leads to the attic.

A cellar is provided under the entire house and here is located the heating plant, the laundry and such.

Cost about $12,500.

BATH TRICKIEST HOME DETAIL

Planning the location of the bathrooms is one of the trickiest single details in the creating of a home. It is one part of the work that almost requires technical services, the advice of a responsible master plumber or an architect.

But most house holders and their wives like to do some planning for building or remodeling before they consult the experts. Here are some hints for them to observe in planning bathroom, dressing rooms, washrooms and closets:

To safeguard against freezing, all fixtures with hidden fittings or supply pipes should be set against inside partitions.

Above or next to the kitchen is a good location for a bathroom, because it is economical to locate all supply and waste pipes near each other. Another good place is above the hall.

If more than one bedroom is to have toilet accommodations, it is convenient and economical to arrange the two bathrooms next to each other.

Noises from the flushing of plumbing fixtures may be kept out of the living room by placing the soil pipe in a kitchen wall or partition.

Packing the soil pipe with mineral wool is another good way to muffle sounds.

Washington St. Shops in Lease

The General Office Equipment Company and the Sunstrand Company announce their removal to 333 Washington st., where they have taken long leases of shops No. 2 and 7, comprising about 2700 sq. ft. from the Olympia Realty Company.

This lease was negotiated by Arthur P. Pearce, Jr.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING
CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

Boston School Committee

School Includes ONE Woman At the Least.

THERE are two vacancies in the Boston School Committee and there are twelve candidates.

ONE of the candidates, and ONLY one, is a WOMAN.

Mrs. Elizabeth W. Pigeon of East Boston is a graduate of the State Normal School at Bridgewater, has two degrees from Boston University, has studied at Harvard and Columbia and has given a course at our Teachers' College.

The lady is the mother of two young boys, who are enrolled in the Boston schools. She is active in parent-teacher and similar organizations.

Mrs. Pigeon finds a reason for her candidacy in the retirement of Mrs. Jennie L. Barron. It is her view that there should be at least one woman on the school board. We quite agree and—politics aside, on this question—we earnestly hope her candidacy will appeal with equal success to the great body of citizens.

As for a choice of one out of eleven gentlemen, it might be well to have in mind a recent report showing that in nine months the School Committee spent $11,049,728.45.

No one should be elected to the School Committee simply because he is a "good fellow."

Widow Doyle

Gives Orders to Secretary Mac

THERE was a time, and it was not in ages past, when people questioned seriously whether it was QUITE "proper" for a woman to be a physician.

That was before the ladies got the vote, and when woman's place, as the anti-suffragists argued, was "in the home."

Much has transpired since those days.

The girls have their own crews on the river, swim the Channel, fly across the sea, run for Congress—and are duly elected—and out in Northampton there is a lady member of the Board of Aldermen.

Women have been elected governors of States. Here in Massachusetts, one woman has served on the Governor's Council. Out in Williamstown, a woman drives a stage-coach and delivers the mail and—let's have it all in—the first Federal prison for women has been opened at Alderson, W. Va.

Mrs. Gladys Doyle's work is unusual because there is nothing very "nice," nothing at all easy about it. She receives no fan mail and photographers do not pester the life out of her. Running a 105-acre potato farm in Aroostook County is not at all like running for Congress or being the envy of all Hollywood.

For three years, since the death of her husband, Mr. Doyle has given days and nights to the management of one of the largest farms in the region about Caribou.

Up before daylight, and in the fields at sunrise to inspect the long rows of potatoes, the seed, fertilizer, insecticides, farm machinery, repairs and the countless other considerations on the occasion of our crop-reporter's visit to Mrs. Doyle's study [illegible] and a roomy house, constructed except by a single [illegible] carpenter.

As a result of the widow's diligence, the Doyle farm radiates an atmosphere of prosperity. The machinery is new, the buildings freshly painted, the horses sleek and well-fed. Not the business bother. With feminine prudence she plans always to have cash with which to buy fertilizer and hire labor.

And IS she happy?

Yes—and no.

She dreams—as a man might dream on the same prosperous farm.

"I'd like to drop it all and go touring," she says. "I'd like to go as far as some of my potatoes travel. I'd just like to SEE things. Maybe I'll have to take it out in wishing, but that is what I should LIKE to do."

Which really proves nothing, except that few of us are really content with our lot, even when there are 105 acres of it.

THE MARRY-GO-ROUND

By HELEN ROWLAND

AS good matrimonial material myself, I am always interested in reports of young women who are "looking around" for husbands. And sometimes, I confess, I look up in the business section of the newspaper first and find out what sort of husband with what sort of fortune and what sort of income they are looking for. Then I look in the society column to see if they will get him.

There ought to be a new magazine devoted entirely to young women looking for husbands. Such a magazine would be full of interesting and sentimental reading. Articles on "Where to Find Husbands" and "Husbands I Have Met" and "Husbands I Have Married" and "Husbands I Have Divorced" and "Husbands I Have Buried" and "Husbands I Have Had Executed" and "Husbands I Have Had Committed to Asylums" and "Husbands I Have Had Sent to Reformatories" and "Husbands I Have Had Sent to the Penitentiary" and "Husbands I Have Had Sent to the Electric Chair" and "Husbands I Have Had Sent to Heaven" and "Husbands I Have Had Sent to Hell" and "Husbands I Have Had Sent to Boarding Houses" and "Husbands I Have Had Sent to Bootleggers" and "Husbands I Have Had Sent to Bootleggers Who Don't Believe in Alcohol."

Perhaps it is the same perversity which makes a man work for hours to get a certain station, instead of tuning in on a perfectly good local program that inspires him to break his neck running after a woman who doesn't want him, while the one who wants only him a perfectly good wife is patiently waiting, right at hand.

There are lots of days of "taking a rain's breath away"—but the most popular among women, these days, seems to be be-suffocating him with attentions.

The BAER Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

ONE government amendment we like is that border inspectors can no longer slap you on the hip pockets.

The idea of the slap might uncover secret caches for correction and rebellion in quarters.

We have stood on the Canadian dotted line and watched tourists, salesmen, school teachers and saturated bystanders getting their daily dozen slaps on the mezzanine pockets.

These official chiropractors were free. One school teacher seemed to like it.

She came back the next day for another treatment.

The slapping was rather embarrassing. Especially if you are guilty.

The favored hope for crooks was never carrying any dutiable articles into the United States.

You replied in the negative and your rip pockets jangled an affirmative.

There was one nemesis customs man a mile border whose methods were corrugated and acidophic. He weighed about 290 pounds in his government suit.

He only slapped us on the hip pockets once. But that slap carried us back across the Niagara bridge through Buffalo and well into the Mohawk Valley.

Everybody who was forced to come through his station got a black and blue mark that looked like the U. S. seal placed on beef.

The limit solved the problem of hurling dutiables in his hip pockets. "Glassware. Handle with care."

Silver flasks were battered and dented like the barrel of the Monitor.

The unfairness of the slapping method was that it hurt worse if you didn't have a bottle there to take up the shock of recoil.

We finally traced up the history of the husky slapper who patrolled the buying end of the Niagara bridge.

He used to be the railroad man who tested car wheels with a sledge hammer.

Naturally his technique was helpful in finesse but was redolent with zip, vigor and he-products.

We plan to thank John Government for curtailing the slapping concession on the border. We never did like a war in which there was no retaliation.

H. G. Wells Writes on "The Science of Life"

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and Geo. P. Wells

FORTY-TWO thousand feet, a trifle over eight miles, not a tenth of what a fast automobile can do it an hour on the level, but so far as it is practically the limit of the upward range of life.

Three main reasons [illegible] living beings to the lower levels—deficiency of oxygen to breathe, deficiency of pressure upon the exterior of the body and to [illegible] dense cold.

Airmen who have attempted height records describe themselves as feeling swelled, puffed out and distressed, with a painful buzzing in the ears. The heart beats too vigorously against the lessened restraining force. There may be bleeding to [illegible] nose and lungs, and even from the eyes and gums.

The cold at these height makes it [illegible] to keep as low as forty degrees below zero centigrade and it is extremely difficult to retain the heat of the body.

Long before the altitude has struggled to the frightful limit all other living things have left [illegible] behind. Such [illegible] follow inevitably from the plane. No bird can possibly live though the condor might have kept with him as high as five miles.

Downwards life is also restricted but downwards it is in diminishing pressure and in the cold earth increasing temperature against which life has to fight. The forms of life familiar to us do not extend down into the sea for very many fathoms; they are replaced by other species more adapted to cold and darkness and high pressure. The barriers set to air-breathing life are soon reached.

A diver in a diving-dress, with skillful management and under good conditions, can go to almost 250 feet below sea level, can stay there for 10 or 12 minutes, and return to the surface by stages in about an hour, provided he is constitutionally adapted to the work. A naked diver may get to something like 30 feet and stay at most about a couple of minutes.

Because of this relationship of living things to limiting pressures, there is a very considerable restriction in the movements of all life in the sea.

Whales dive to astonishing depth when the pressures upon them are considered. They have peculiar reticulations of their blood vessels which may serve to ease off the bubbling of gas as they rush up to the surface again after a prolonged submergence.

The Greenland whale, says R. W. Gray, can get down to 800 fathoms, the best part of a mile, to judge by the length of line a harpooned individual will reel out. But this depth is not equal to the height of such a winter resort as Arosa.

Anything normally enclosing air or other gas, such as the strands of a rope or a piece of woody fabric, is flattened out at great depths. If a ship's hawser, says Professor J. Arthur Thomson, a hempen hawser, of course, is naturally sunk to the depths of a couple of thousand fathoms, it is squeezed to less than the diameter of one's wrist, and a piece of wood that has gone down so far will no longer float. Whatever lives at great depths if it contains air or gas must have its internal pressure as great as those about it.

Oceanographic exploration shows us that there is a definite zoning of life in the abyss, the creatures of the deep level being adapted to the peculiar conditions of their particular levels. They can no more come up than the surface life can go down—until it dies and drifts down slowly to be eaten by the inhabitants of the lower depths.

Sometimes, however, some of the deep sea fishes fall upward. Many of them, like their surface kindred, have swimming bladders to accommodate them selves to varying levels. These bladders contain gas under enormous pressure. If one of the abyssal fishes rises too high in pursuit of its prey, the gas in its bladder may expand out of control of the muscles.

The fish can no longer go down, but continues to rise helplessly, and as it rises to levels of less and less pressure, the expansive force of the gas within is less and less restrained, until at last the creature swims up to the surface and arrives there distended or burst and dead.

The ocean at its deepest goes down perhaps for seven miles. Life, therefore, so far as we know, is confined to a layer of air and a layer of water, having a total thickness of less than 11 miles, on this comparatively small planet, earth, and no one single form of life is able to span even these petty limits. Man's vertical range seems to be as great as any creature's and it is no more than eight miles.

Once-Overs

THERE are times when you wish you might be sought for what you are in a personal way, not because you represent a desired something.

You may possess material or social standing or prominence of some sort that appeals to certain persons and you feel that they cultivate you for that reason.

In your case it may be that money is the magnet.

You wonder just how long these folk would stand by you if you should lose all your earthly holdings. It may be true that many would not continue that friendship.

And for that matter, how long would you continue an intimacy with certain ones you know if they to the surface and arrives there distended or burst and dead.

'Gold, Gold, Yellow Gold'

Men Search, Fight and Die for It

(Copyright, 1929)

THIS picture shows an Australian extracting gold from the earth. Unlike the early American gold seekers in California, who "washed" their gold in running streams, this gold hunter fills his pan with earth, sand, and gravel, and pours it slowly out into another pan. The wind blows away the dust. The heavy particles of gold, if any, fall straight into the pan.

After this process the man blows with all his might and main on the contents of the pan. Other things are blown to one side, the gold, of greater weight, remains.

GETTING GOLD BY "DRY BLOWING"

In some parts of Australia the process is called "dollying" for gold. Gold bearing rock is crushed by hand power to a fine powder, then washed in water, the gold remaining.

All over the world men seek, and have sought, for gold. Far back before history began, navages searched for the precious metal.

A gold rush carries not merely adventurers, men out of work, but those that would find success if they would let stay where they are.

The mere word "Gold" fires the imagination and stimulates cupidities.

Primitive savages look for gold in streams, and Uncle Sam stores it away, billions of dollars worth, and makes it the basis of financial and industrial operations amounting to hundreds of billions.

For gold men hunt, rush, fight, and kill each other. Their time comes and they go, LEAVING the gold behind, knowing too late that it amounts to little.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—Not long ago I came within an inch or so of being in the midst of a full blown theater panic. It was at an auspicious first night. Along about the middle of the first act there was a sizzling and crackling and a pungent puff of smoke floated lazily over the audience.

It needed only the spark of hysteria to produce pandemonium. The first impression was of restlessness with everyone to hold themselves in grip. White faced men in a sort of hallucinated calm whispered to their ladies and here and there was a nervous laugh that might break out in a horrible scream. The players struggled tensely.

Suddenly in the front row a man darted up the aisle. The world seemed to pale and stand still. Then the house started to rise in unison. An actor, Robert Warwick, incidentally—proved a coolheaded trouper in a deadly emergency.

He stepped out of his part up to the footlights and with engaging calmness pleaded: "Please, ladies and gentlemen, there is nothing whatever wrong in this theater." Several quickly sat down, and the rest, like sheep, followed and the catastrophe was averted.

It was discovered later that two women had swooned. In certain parts of the Alps, they say, snow mountains become so delicately balanced that a sudden yell will send them on a devastating avalanche of destruction. So it is there. panic precipitated. New York theater are especially safe.

Save in name, a hotel must be said to be impossible. All theaters may be emptied in three minutes with the audience making at a natural pace. It is the quick rushes that clog the aisle or entrances and bring disaster. All house employes are trained to avoid this danger.

Every theater has its exits in bright red letters, and at the masthead of every program is that bit of one-legged poetry: "Look around now and choose the nearest exit to your seat. In case of fire, walk (not run) to that exit. Do not try to beat your neighbor to the street." To obey that, means perfect safety.

In every theater nightly a fireman is on duty. He is prepared to send in an alarm instantly. With all the precautions it would be difficult for a fire to gain much headway. One of force firemen incidentally is a crack critic. He can tell if a play is a box office hit and occasionally frequently ex-ls his opinion.

A means in Detroit sends a suggestion which he believes appropriate for any newspaper column and here it is:

"Go On, Say Something!"

Hollywood has found the business of keeping imported writers cooling their heels in movie ante rooms a boomerang. Burnt children fear the fire. For a time they were shipping scribblers to the coast in car loads, and paying salaries from $250 to $500 weekly and expenses and then almost all were sacked. Three celebrated writers were recently offered two-year contracts at their own terms. They returned the contracts unsigned and without comment.

Incidentally, one of the most prolific of the scenario writers was—although he tries to keep it a secret—transplanted from the editorship of a seed catalog to sprout in cinema clover. Ten years ago he was making $30 a week. Today he makes exactly ten times that daily.

The newest wrinkle in hotel building is the built-in apartment. Not a piece of furniture is movable. And it is a finger nail breaker for those who reach the ribbons [illegible] of "throwing things."

"I trooped," writes Old Timer, "for 20 years up and down the Ohio river and they called it Boat Show. Edna Ferber spent two weeks on the river and now it is Show Boat."

And she made a fortune doing it, mister.

Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

WHEN God made man, He gave to him
For his delight
By day the sky's blue weave
The stars by night.

Above man's head He set
Cloud-girt and dim,
The mountain's parapet
Like Heaven's white rim.

When God made man, He sent
Song to the ear,
And some sad wave-voice blent
Their harmony.

These wonders all about
(Majestic things!)
God made, lest man should doubt
Whence being springs.
